

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides a chemically modified 5 human Growth Hormone (hGH) prepared by attaching a polyethylene glycol butyraldehyde moiety to the N-terminal phenylalanine of the protein. The chemically-modified protein according to the present invention may have a much longer lasting hGH activity than that of the 10 un-modified hGH, enabling reduced dose and scheduling opportunities.